

Melanie Cellini, Parent

This needs to change, how can my child be successful when I cannot even explain her homework to her. I consider myself pretty well educated, I've had to Google and Youtube how to do common core because it makes no sense. Our children are doomed unless there is some type of reform.