Danielle, Parent

"As a parent, I feel strongly about getting rid of Common Core, I feel it does not enhance the students' skills; all it does is confused them- causes them anxiety, and takes the joy out of the educational experience. My child went from loving school and actively learning to shutting down and complaining of a stomach ache each day because he is afraid to go to school. The work is too grueling and confusing for the kids to get the skills they need to be successful."
