

Pauline Hiam

I say get rid of it. Common Core makes no sense...and is hard for the students like my Grandson to understand. What about just staying with the old math...its simple. How many people do you know are going to actually use the common core...unless they are going to be a mathematician, probably none. Get rid of that stupid Common Core.