

Eileen Kenna, Parent

The tests do not correspond to my children's learning and do not prepare my children to grow as learners. Stop wasting the valuable 180 days of learning on teaching students to think that their abilities can be shown through a bubbled in response. Learning is not finite. The money wasted on these test is easily documented; the stress on the students, teachers and the schools is beyond measure. Smarten up, please, so my kids don't have to pay the price.
