

Danielle Koretz, Parent

"I believe that the common core has had a negative impact on my son's education. it is extremely difficult for him, especially being a student with ADHD. I am also a certified special education teacher and even I have a difficult time helping understand why he has to do the work in the way he is being taught to do it. This curriculum was not built with all students in mind. Not everyone can grasp these concepts. Not everyone can do math horizontally, and they don't need to. Thank you for your time."
