

Dana Breidenstein, Teacher, Lancaster Central School District

I feel the testing is creating a lot of anxiety for students who would otherwise not have any issues. I see and hear the many students and parents who can not believe what they are asked to do on these assesments. The struggling students can not seem to keep up and as a teacher, my main concern is to give my students the best education possible. I am also concerned with the lack of consistency. Something needs to be done!
