"The CC system is not working nor will it work when it is not on the appropriate age level for our children. Just because you now teach kindergarten what used to be 2nd grade so you can say we are digging deeper, doesn't mean they are cognitively ready to understand and comprehend the concepts. That goes for all grades and I do not see CC as smarter or different ways of thinking, we see it as more convoluted and cumbersome and really not more rigger. What I see is forced concepts that the stufents don't ever master but they dabble and they know a little about a lot of things but will not master it nor will they remember how to do it since it jumps all over. A lot of parents are turning to home schooling so what does that tell you?"
