

John Dugan, Teacher

Time for change. Time for the NYSED to listen to teachers and parents and reform the Common Core!

Time to put children first, not politics. It is so frustrating to hear every day about the differences between the NYSED and the direction our teachers want to see...the professionals in the trenches who know what we ALL can do better! This gridlock is greatly hindering any progress that needs to happen for our students to succeed.