

Breanna Douglas, Teacher, Little Falls Middle School

"According to the Syracuse Newspaper which published an article on September 3rd, 2015, on March 4th, 2015 Cuomo called for a comprehensive review of the way common core standards have been implemented in New York State. If the system that is currently set up is faulty how can teacher's jobs be linked to test scores, what proof does he have that it is not working since the current students who started with common core are only in 6th grade and what has been done to fix the problem that he has created?"
