

Michele Fitzsimmons, Parent

New York State is amazing and unique because of its diversity. However, this diversity results in a range of socioeconomics and makes it UNFAIR to hold all teachers accountable for one standardized test score. Teachers in affluent districts have an advantage here, The Common Core test is not a valid judgement for all teachers. Teachers should be evaluated on their individual performance and dedication, like all other industries. Thank you for considering these changes.