

Ellie Fletcher, Parent

"I can't make the long travel to be supportive in person I can only pray my email gets read aloud. My kids have a very hard time understanding the common core math. My daughter gets so stressed she hides her math tests. I am personally thinking about opting out of the state testing. The homework is getting out of hand. After I watched a documentary on how other school did it well no wonder we aren't making headway."