Since you guys took money to implement common core you have ruined my child's life. My kids were happy and great in school until the first year of common core. You guys should be ashamed of yourselves to take some cash to implement a broken system that clearly fails over 60% of its students. I currently have two kids failing out of school who stay up all night doing homework because the standards are so crazy. Less is more people. Less is more. Your system is terrible and I will be fighting it until the day you guys get smart and destroy it. Thanks for failing my children to get a couple bucks in your pocket!
