

Don Hauser, Teacher, Lancaster CSD

Stop the madness!

The focus of testing, testing, testing has taken the valuable skills of discovery learning & creativity out of my classroom. My students would benefit so much more if I had the opportunity / time to focus more on them and learned skills rather than the excessive amount of time that is spent preparing tests, preparing them for tests, grading tests (while a substitute fills in), etc . . . The current system is a FLOP!