

Antolina Haimelin, Parent, Furnace Woods Elementary School

"My eldest child is in kindergarten and I haven't had much exposure to the core curriculum but I have heard a lot of complaints from other parents saying teaching math has changed, making it difficult for parents to get involved with teaching. Also, some parents who have multiple kids have noticed the younger kids who are learning to read with the new curriculum are behind compared to their older siblings who learned differently."