

Crystal Johnson, Parent

"I am the mother of three boys who have been the guinea pigs for New York State. I am so frustrated by the lack of support parents have with this Common Core nonsense. My children are very bright attentive boys, and yet they struggle daily with the bizzare "work" they are asked to do. The website is not helpful and can be more confusing during homework time as the children had a different instruction at "school". The poor teachers, all they can say is try and write a note if no one "gets it"???? Fed up!"
