Please let our children go back to the normal way we all have learned. My son is autistic and was so good in math. At age 2 he was doing simple addition. By age 4 he was doing multiplication. You could ask him any math question he would tell you the answer. Now my starting this new way, not only him, but other children are being set back. He now hates math! He has now lost his ability to enjoy what he once loved. Please get rid of common core before our children decide to go another path. Thank you
