Common Core is not an educationally sound approach for our children! These tests are time consuming and the amount of time to prepare for them in the classrooms is ridiculous. The materials are poorly written, even homework assignments and test questions are riddled with mistakes. My children are miserable and their anxiety is heartbreaking. I see the look in their teachers' eyes when I am in their schools. The stress of their evaluations and the material they are forced to teach their students has made their job miserable. I used to see happy, smiling teachers that loved their jobs. Not anymore. Is that what we want? That is good for our children?? NO!! Stop this madness now please.
