

Karyn Lantier, Parent

"I think the Common Core Standards are great. They present new challenges to our students and raise the bar on education. However, I feel the roll-out of the common core has been very poorly implemented. The lack of coordination between what is taught in the class room, the state testing and teacher evaluations has been dismal and embarrassing."