

Leslie Lucas, Parent

"I would just like you to know that my son a 7th grader has done nothing but struggle with Math since the common core was implemented. Used to get 3/4 on NYS test now a 1. Put him into private school last year without common core he had an 85 average. Back into public school this year and he is fighting to pass with a 68! I will NOT allow my son to take the NYS tests this year and will advocate for more to do the same. the everyday tests given in the classrooms are setting out kids up to fail.. Less questions equals one wrong you fail! Stop this nonsense, and remember that all kids do not learn the same."
