

Michael McKenna, Parent

"I have a question about children with learning disabilities. Why do they have to be tested using the same test that children without disabilities have to take? Some of these children will never be on par with other children. How can the test results be used to grade teachers of these children? That's just one of the many questions I have about the common core, that has been crammed down our throats."