

Diane Palmer, Parent

"I believe the direction NYS has taken in regards to higher standards with Common Core and APPR is positive. I have taught at the community college level and many (not all) students are ill prepared in their critical thinking and writing skills. I am concerned that teachers and parents are overreacting to Common Core and APPR because it is challenging to demand more of students and perhaps many teachers are not prepared for the challenge themselves."