Tricia Roond, Parent

"Common core would have been a great idea if it was started in kindergarten and was moved up the ladder with those children. It would have taken 13 years to be put into full effect but parents would be able to Learn along with the kids. The was it was introduced is much to confusing for the older kids and parents are not even able to help their kids with homework because we don't understand it!"