

Jacqueline Sam, Parent

I think the concept makes sense but the execution is poor. It does not allow teachers to have enough flexibility on how much time is needed for classroom teachings and to get ALL kids to the same place. And why can't their books come home? A better solution is for longer school days and year round school system.