"I find it ridiculous that common core was rolled out without any thought that children like my daughter in fifth grade at the time would not not have any issues with learning and entirely new way to approach math!!! She was no longer an "A" student and struggled every day with a teacher who was il equipped to help her and her classmates as she just didn't have the time to teach them an entirely new way to,learn.. Common Core is an epic fail. I think it should have been implemented in kindergarten moving forward and the children who were already taught math and English for six years should have continued in the same vain"
