

Schoenberger, Parent

"I don't like the way these standards are implemented. To me it seems more political than educational. It seems to result in the students learning less. They end up being stressed out and turned off from learning or trying to succeed in the school system"