

Carol Siege, Parent

"I am against the current programs as they are now set up. Our school district is among the highest performing districts in the state and the mandates eat up our funding and hurt our children's learning opportunities rather than support them. In addition the bureaucratic nonsense of blindly linking teacher evaluations to test scores does not take into account a myriad reasons for the scores including students with learning disabilities who are hurt by the current system."