

Renee Susman, Teacher

"Common Core is NOT developmentally appropriate. You have secondary and college teachers creating items for elementary students. The reality of the classroom is that we have numerous interruptions; such as assemblies, vacation days, holidays, safety drills, pull outs, etc. that preclude continuity of instruction. Learning happens during numerous teachable moments that are NOT geared to standardized testing. Please allow young children to embrace the joys of discovery."