

Carol Taylor, Teacher

"As a teacher and a parent, I support the notion of rigor behind the common core. However, linking standards to unreliable tests must stop before we lose what little parental support common core garnered in the past. It's time our governor listens to the outcry and admits his policy is wrong for our kids."