

Michele Yokell, Teacher, P.S.116 School in NYC

I agree that we should have common core standards, however the testing assessments for the standards is not reflective of the learning and understanding of the students.