"I opted out my daughter from last year from 5th grade state test and i intend to to the same this year. Although my daughter does fairly well on the test, i think the core confuses the children to no end and the testing is way above there level and is unfair. it is not only unfair to students put for teachers as well. there is no reason that teaching and learning should revolve around test. kids need to b kids and tough in a fun way were it will stick with them, not hate to learn and hate school."
