

Elaine Zuk, Ardsley School District

"I believe in rigor in school, however, what is done now far exceeds students' cognitive ability. It has a result of negative feelings and losing self-esteem.

Many children are extremely anxious because materials in both ELA and Math are extremely difficult. Common Core needs to re-evaluate what is appropriate for children on all levels whereby they feel success and accomplishment in both areas."